

Association of European Businesses

IX international conference “Global economic risk management”

29 October 2020

MGIMO Russia

Purpose of this year annual Conference – to identify main global economic risks, in particular is the assessment of the impact of global pandemic, natural disasters and increasing cyber threats for the national and global economies, and to discuss possible solutions at the different levels, including state regulation and involvement, using insurance and public-private partnership means, optimal solutions to mitigate these risks in the most efficient ways.

Conference is organized by Risk management and insurance Department of MGIMO, All-Russian Insurance Union and Association of European business in Russia.

This year Conference includes a special discussion panel for the young lawyers organized with the support of the Russian national Chapter of International Association of Insurance Law (AIDA) within international program “Young AIDA” to support research in the legal area of insurance.

We are inviting to participate in the Conference: students, magisters, post-graduates, alumni, insurance professionals, science and research teams, professors of the institutes and universities. Best reports, selected by the Organizing Committee, will be published in the science and economic magazines, and in the MGIMO publication.

Conference is organized on-line at the Zoom platform. All registered participants will get a link to join the Sections and Plenary meeting on-line.

Registration is open till 25th October 2020 and is free.

Official languages of the Conference: Russian and English (translation is not granted).

To register for the Conference, you can contact Mrs. Natalia Akimova at Risk management and insurance Department in MGIMO (tel. 8 495 2254082), or send an email to the address insurance@inno.mgimo.ru.

Program of IX International conference “Global economic risk management”

29 October 2020

MGIMO Russia

Sections, 16.00-18.15

Section 1. Pandemic risks: treats, impact, mitigation.

Moderators: Prof. Tsvetkova Ljudmila, MGIMO, and Ryzhakov Andrey, Alfainurance (under confirmation).

Main topics:

- modeling of the impact of the global pandemics, new challenges
- evaluation of COVID-19 impact in different areas of national economies
- world practice and efficiency of the state support measures for the main areas effected by lockdowns
- insurance exposure to the COVID-19 losses
- can health insurance help to mitigate global pandemics
- role of international organizations in the size down and mitigation of the global pandemics
- efficiency of the national models to fight COVID-19: from Sweden to China

Section 2. Cyber risks and digital security: new reality.

Moderators: Prof. Adamchuk Natalia, MGIMO, Armen Goljumjan, Marsh – insurance brokers

Main topics:

- cyber risks: global treat or the absence of digital hygiene and accuracy

- evaluation of the exposure and modelling of the cyber threats
- cyber terrorism: reality or Hollywood plot
- comparison of the security level against cyber risks at the different levels of national economy and economic agents
- role of international organizations in the information distribution and prevention of the cyber threats
- cyber insurance: what is offered to the consumer.

Section 3. Natural hazards risk and emergence situations: do we have a solution?

Moderators: Prof. Capitolina Tourbina, MGIMO; Prof. Aleksander Arkhopov, MGIMO; Igor Zhuk, Executive Board member of Russian National Reinsurance company

Main topics:

- global and regional exposure to the hazardous risks, problems of modelling
- efficient models of loss financing: securitization and other means
- XIX-b.XX century Russian experience of the mutual insurance against fire losses – can be implemented now?

опыт дореволюционной России в организации земского взаимного страхования от огня и возможности его использования в современной экономической модели

- impact of the natural hazards on agriculture and global experience in the area
- optimal solutions for the mitigation of the human-made disaster losses and their financing.

Section 4 (jointly with the Russian national Chapter of AIDA). Insurance contract and COVID-19 (legal aspects).

Moderators: Prof. Capitolina Tourbina, MGIMO; Leonid Zubarev, Partner, CMS Russia, Artem Abaidullin, head of legal practice AIG Russia (under confirmation)

To register for this section, pls, contact Tatjana Listovaya at Insurance and Pension Committee of AEB (tel. +7 (495) 234 27 64, ext. 124), or send an email to the address tatiana.listrovaya@aebrus.ru.

Main topics:

- COVID-19: force majeure or insured event under the contract of insurance
- legal value of the state decision to lockdown and limit business activity and freedom of travel for the citizens within COVID-19 time

- disputes to consider COVID-19 as the covered loss under the insurance contract: global trends and further development of insurance law
- special treatment of COVID-19 “event” in the different lines of insurance
- is there a need to change an insurance law to clarify pandemics liability of insurer and other global risks.

29 October 2020, 18.30 – 20.30

Plenary discussion
«Global economic risks management»

Moderators: Igor Yurgens, Chairman of All-Russian Insurance Union; Prof. Capitolina Tourbina, MGIMO

Main topics:

- global economic risks: modern understanding, impact of COVID-19
- ability of the insurance market to compensate pandemic losses, are we on the way to new global reinsurance crisis
- Russian insurance market and natural hazardous risks: lack of capital, big data, modelling, role of Russian National Reinsurance company
- role of international organization in global economic risks management (United Nations, World Bank, IHO and others)
- evaluation of national models to mitigate and finance COVID-19 losses, is there any optimal approach?

Requirements to the reports and presentations

Presentation is limited by 10 min. Content should cover the problem and includes 1-2 short findings/conclusions. Speaker should be ready to answer questions from the audience. Total time frame for each speaker is limited by 15 min.

Decision to include presentation for the section’or plenary panel will be taken by Organizing Committee after content analyses of the presentation.

Organizing Committee