Festive Easter Brunches will be held at Hotel Baltschug Kempinski Moscow on 21 and 28 April

Festive Sunday brunches have become one of the remarkable traditions for Hotel Baltschug Kempinski Moscow. On 21 and 28 April, The Baltschug Grill restaurant will hold two brunches in honour of Easter, which Catholics and Orthodox will celebrate with a one-week difference this year.

Guests will enjoy a festive Sunday brunch with a sumptuous buffet and over 100 items on the menu, along with live music, free-flowing French champagne Ruinart and a legendary view of the Kremlin.

The brunch menu by Maxim Maksakov includes oysters and other seafood, hot pancakes with red caviar and sour cream, tuna and beef tartares prepared with ingredients of guests' choice, favourite dishes of Russian and European cuisines, homemade pizza baked in the oven with various fillings, grilled dishes, more than 20 kinds of desserts, and a chocolate bar, as well as traditional Easter treats.

For the youngest gourmets during the brunch, there will be a kids' room with a set of food and entertainment for every taste and age. Also on 21 and 28 April, Hotel Baltschug Kempinski will prepare family entertainment, which follows Easter traditions and has been created to uncover the artistic talents of the little guests and their parents. Together with the animator, children will be able to compete in colouring Easter eggs, using their rich imagination. Souvenirs from the Baltschug and from Porsche Russland, a partner of Hotel Baltschug Kempinski Moscow, have been prepared for all children. The author of the best art work will receive a weekend stay with his or her parents for 1 night at the Baltschug, including family breakfast.

The Festive Easter Brunch will be held on 21 and 28 April from 12:30 to 16:30. Depending on the choice of beverages, the cost will be 8,900 roubles per person (including Ruinart champagne), 6,900 roubles per person (including Prosecco) or 4,900 roubles per person (including soft drinks). Special prices are provided for the youngest guests (2,500 roubles for children from 6 to 11 years old), and, as always, there will be no charge for children under six years old.
