NOYTECH Supply Chain Solutions Included in the GosLog Freight Forwarders Registry

Moscow, Russia – 16 June 2026 – Following the ongoing transformation of the Russian logistics market and the continued evolution of regulations governing freight forwarding activities, NOYTECH Supply Chain Solutions has been included in the freight forwarders registry on the GosLog platform, maintained by the Federal Service for Supervision of Transport.

The registry has been introduced as part of the modernization of Russia's freight forwarding sector and the broader development of the regulatory framework governing transportation and logistics activities. The initiative is designed to increase market transparency, establish unified operating standards for industry participants and strengthen oversight mechanisms throughout the freight transportation process.

As supply chains continue to evolve and become increasingly interconnected, businesses are placing greater emphasis on the reliability, transparency and compliance capabilities of their partners. In response to these changing market expectations, logistics providers are required not only to maintain operational excellence but also to continuously adapt their processes to an evolving regulatory environment.

According to the company's experts, the development of industry regulations will contribute to higher professional standards across the logistics sector and foster a more transparent environment for collaboration among cargo owners, carriers and freight forwarding companies.

Perry Neumann, Founder of NOYTECH Supply Chain Solutions and moovie Holding UAE, commented: "The logistics industry continues to evolve rapidly, and expectations around transparency, reliability, and operational accountability are becoming increasingly significant. We see the ongoing development of industry regulations as a natural step toward creating a more resilient logistics ecosystem. For NOYTECH, compliance with new requirements is an integral part of our long-term strategy to deliver service excellence, strengthen supply chain resilience, and build trust with our customers and partners."

Through its inclusion in the freight forwarders registry, NOYTECH Supply Chain Solutions further reinforces its position as a trusted logistics partner for domestic and international businesses, while continuing to support the development of efficient, transparent and sustainable supply chains.
