The Association of European Businesses (AEB) on US sanctions

The Association of European Businesses (AEB) reiterates its position against any economic sanctions, or any limitation of free trade or investment, and remains in favor of de-escalating political tensions on all sides.

We do not support the introduction of additional economic sanctions by the US and we appeal to the US, EU and Russian authorities to find a political solution which will prevent a further deterioration of mutual relations.

The introduction of sanctions impedes the normal conduct of business activity, and can also lead to a serious decline in production and workplaces in relevant sectors.

We are especially concerned with the fact that the US sanctions touch especially the interests of European companies and European countries in energy and other sectors related to Russia.
