

Russia expands tax support measures in the IT sector

15 August 2022

Yet another package of measures aimed at expanding and clarifying the criteria for tax incentives for IT companies was introduced mid-July under Federal Law No. 321-FZ* (the "Law").

On the whole, it can be said that the changes brought about by the Law are good news for the sector. At the same time, both new and existing IT companies should take into account the limitations and clarifications reflected in the Law in order to assess whether they can benefit from the tax incentives and what their long-term impact is.
