

Resilient leadership. From respond to recover

21 May 2020, 3:00 pm – 4:00 pm

The Deloitte team have made quite a journey together through these days of uncertainty, doing our best to provide you with information and advice. We see many rapid and significant changes in the business environment and in response we will hold a webinar on 21 May designed to help you navigate your business through market turbulence.

In particular, we will cover the following topics:

- The impact of uncertainty and weak oil on the Russian economy and government policy

Chris Weafer will give a Russia Macro Update: Adjusting to current situation

- View from China: pioneering post-lockdown recovery

Si Tao Xu, Chief Economist and Partner at Deloitte in Asia Pacific will speak about business recovery in China. Are expectations too pessimistic?

- Executive view: resilient leadership

Ian Colebourne, Deloitte CIS CEO, will share insights on how the firm has navigated business through the current situation and what resilient leaders should focus on to recover and thrive in a new normal world.

- Government support measures in Russia

Think globally, act locally: that is why state support measures introduced by the Russian federal and regional authorities need to be considered.

Oxana Zhupina, Deloitte CIS Tax & Legal Partner, will give an overview of the stimulus packages, highlighting the potential bottlenecks and sharing ideas on how to resolve challenging issues.

We strive to make our webinars informative and open and will try to answer all your questions (you are welcome to add them to your registration form or ask them during the webinar).

The webinar will be conducted in English. Participation is free of charge.
