Subject: New project for Agrico in Russia

February 15, 2017

Tebodin in Russia and Agrico Group signed a contract for the basic design of a meat-processing plant in the Stavropol region. Founded in 1999, Agrico Group is one of the large agro-industrial companies in Russia.

Agrico performs a full range of production operations involving growing, processing, storage and sales of agricultural products. Among the top priorities of the Group are crop production, vegetable growing, pig production, and meat processing.

The new plant for halal meat production, with a total area of 25,000 m², will have a production capacity of 69 t/per day.

This is the next stage of the project. Before it, Tebodin was involved in construction and modernization of a wholesale and distribution retail centre, for which did the conceptual design. This centre included a meat-processing plant, logistic complex for vegetables and fruits (storage of 30,000 tons) and a plant for their freeze and sublimation.
